

PROJECTION DEVICE WITH A MICROPROCESSOR MODULE

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A projection device with a microprocessor module is provided. The projection device includes a microprocessor module for receiving a data signal including an image format file, a document format file, and a video format file to be converted into an output signal; and a projector electrically connected to the microprocessor module for receiving the output signal.